

JLCP Update October 22, 2007

The following announcements may be of interest to current students, faculty, and staff members in the Justice, Law, and Crime Policy (JLCP) program at George Mason University (GMU). Inquiries or requests for additional information on any specific post should be directed to the contact person listed in the announcement. Copies of these announcements will also be posted on the JLCP Bulletin Board.

IMPORTANT DATES AND DEADLINES

November 5 – Course registration begins

November 7 – Organizing meeting for Center for Justice, Law & Society

November 21 – 25 – Thanksgiving recess

JOB VACANCIES

Assistant/Associate/Full Professor – Rutgers University

The School of Criminal Justice at Rutgers University is seeking new faculty to be part of a significant expansion. The School, which offers BS, MA and PhD degrees in Criminal Justice is highly ranked in the US.

The School has appointed a new Dean, Dr Adam Graycar, former Director of the Australian Institute of Criminology, and is now embarking on a major reorientation to contemporary issues in crime and justice.

Assistant/ Associate/ Full Professor of Criminal Justice: specific areas of expertise are open. Academic rank is open depending on background, research and publication record. Several positions are available.

The School is housed in the Center for Law and Justice, one of the newest buildings on the Newark campus, along with the Rutgers-Newark Law School and the Division of Global Studies. The Don M. Gottfredson Library of Criminal Justice, also housed in the building, is widely regarded as one of the best specialized criminal justice collections in the world.

Please send brief details of your interests and a short CV to the Assistant to the Dean, Deborah Locke - deborahl@andromeda.rutgers.edu or call 973-353-3311.

Assistant or Associate Professor – University of Southern Mississippi

The University of Southern Mississippi invites applications for tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor positions in Administration of Justice to begin in fall 2008. Substantive areas of expertise are open depending upon the department's anticipated instructional needs.

Minimum qualifications: A Ph.D. in criminal justice, criminology or closely related discipline from an accredited university must be completed by time of appointment; applicants for the position of Assistant Professor must demonstrate the potential to teach effectively at the university level and conduct scholarly/funded research; applicants for the position of Associate Professor must also have an established national reputation for scholarly publications, an active research agenda, funded research activity, and experience serving on thesis/dissertation committees.

The University of Southern Mississippi is a doctoral and research-extensive institution with campuses in Hattiesburg and Long Beach serving approximately 15,000 undergraduate and graduate students. The department offers undergraduate, masters and doctoral degrees with an extensive network of alumni in local, state and federal service.

Applicants must submit: a letter of interest clearly indicating the position (assistant/associate) and campus (Hattiesburg and/or Long Beach) for which they wish to be considered; statement of professional goals and accomplishments; current vita; and contact information for at least three professional references to Drs. Wes Johnson and Alan Thompson, Search Committee Chairs, The University of Southern Mississippi, Department of Administration of Justice, 118 College Drive #5127, Hattiesburg, MS 39406-0001. In order to receive full consideration, applications must be received by Dec. 1, 2007. The University of Southern Mississippi is an AA/EOE/ADA institution.

Drs. Wes Johnson and Alan Thompson
Search Committee Chairs
The University of Southern Mississippi
Dept. of Administration of Justice
118 College Drive #5127
Hattiesburg, MS 39406-0001

Assistant Professor – University of Southern Indiana

The University of Southern Indiana is a regionally responsive, needs-driven, comprehensive public university of 10,000 students. We seek an individual that will assist us with our current development of a multidisciplinary criminal justice program by providing expertise in the discipline and enthusiasm for teaching. The University has created an environment where teaching and learning are foremost in its mission and the faculty's commitment to continual improvement in teaching along with an active scholarship program has produced increasing quality of instruction and graduate preparedness.

Position/Rank and Salary: Tenure Track Assistant Professor

Qualifications: The Criminal Justice Program at the University of Southern Indiana invites applications for a tenure track Assistant Professor in Criminal Justice beginning August of 2008. Area of specialization is open, but preference will be given to candidates specializing in policing or criminal investigation. Commitment to undergraduate instruction, scholarship and publication, and service to the university and community are expected. Candidates must possess a Ph.D. by August 2008 in Criminal Justice, Criminology, Sociology, or related field.

Appointment/Start Date: August 25, 2008

Application Process: Send letter of interest, CV, USI Faculty/Administrative application (available at <http://www.usi.edu/HR/Employ/docs/02-5050%20Faculty%20App.pdf>), and contact information including e-mail addresses of three professional references to Dr. Todd Schroer, CJ Search Committee Chair, Criminal Justice Program, University of Southern Indiana, Evansville, IN 47712. Review of applications will begin November 23, 2007 and continue until position filled.

Assistant Professor (2 positions) – University of Illinois at Chicago

UIC is looking for strong quantitative candidates for at least one of these positions. Dennis Rosenbaum is the search committee chair and all inquiries can be sent to him about the positions at dennisr@uic.edu

JOB AD for Assistant Professors at UIC Criminal Justice Department:

The Department of Criminal Justice at the University of Illinois at Chicago invites applications for two tenure-track positions at the rank of Assistant Professor (under exceptional circumstances, the rank of Associate Professor may be authorized), beginning August, 2008, pending budgetary approval. Located in downtown Chicago, UIC is a Carnegie Doctoral/Research-Extensive University with roughly 15,000 undergraduate and 9,000 graduate and professional students. The Department of Criminal Justice has an interdisciplinary faculty and offers the BA, MA, and PhD degrees. The Department houses the Center for Research in Law and Justice to support research activity and participates in UIC's Interdisciplinary Center for Research on Violence.

Candidates for the position must hold a Ph.D. (or be near completion of the degree) in Criminology/Criminal Justice or any related social science field. Preference will be given to candidates with research interests in policing, corrections, or global security/terrorism as they intersect with race/ethnicity/immigration/gender and/or social class. Preference for one position will be given to candidates with quantitative skills. Both candidates should demonstrate a record of or the potential for external funding.

Applications should be received by October 31, 2007 for full consideration; however, the search will continue until the positions are filled. Applications should include a letter of application, full curriculum vitae, a writing sample, and three letters of recommendation. Minorities and women are encouraged to apply. Applications should be addressed to:

Search Committee Chair
Department of Criminal Justice (M/C 141)
University of Illinois at Chicago
1007 W. Harrison Street
Chicago, IL 60607

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT OPPORTUNITIES

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CRIMINOLOGY

November 14-17, 2007, Atlanta, Georgia
<http://www.asc41.com/annualmeeting.htm>

UNIVERSITY NEWS AND EVENTS

Ethics Works

University Life in partnership with Judicial Affairs and the office of Leadership Education and Development is hosting an Ethics Workshop. The focus of the workshop is on the challenge of maintaining ethical standards in a competitive environment.

For your information, here's a review of the details:

Tuesday, October 23

2pm, Bull Run Hall, Room 131

Ethics Workshop - "Honor Above All" - LEADS and Judicial Affairs discuss the challenge of maintaining ethical standards in a competitive environment.

Emergency Preparedness Drill

The Fairfax County Health Department will be sponsoring an emergency preparedness drill in the Patriot Center on Saturday, Oct. 27th from 9:00 AM - 1:00 PM. In the event of a true emergency, Patriot Center is designated to care for 30,000 people and serve as the volunteer disbursement center for the County. The staff, students and faculty of the University will be cared for at the Patriot Center.

This drill is seeking 400-500 volunteers to act as citizens, "victims" and staff persons. All members of the University - staff, students and faculty - are asked to consider volunteering for this important event. Please complete the volunteer registration form, available at: <http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/hd/ep/pdf/vregistration.pdf>, and email or fax it to the locations noted within the form.

More information about the drill can be retrieved from:

<http://www.fairfaxcounty.gov/hd/ep/>

Lunch and free T-shirts will be provided. We look forward to a strong presence by the entire University community. This will be our University's emergency center and our participation now will pave the way for a center that is responsive and efficient.